Subject: Re: BIS - Coaching Sport

Hi Brian,

I'm very supportive of the changes! I think the sports psychology will be a better fit as students can integrate content through their BIS capstone. And the psychological aspects will really lend to integrated studies. Please indicate my full support on any documentation as you move the process forward.

Best wishes,

Mike

Hi Mike,

I understand that you are off "enjoying" some type of medical procedure; I trust that all is well!

I am writing to solicit your support for changes I am proposing to the Coaching Sport minor, which will also affect the BIS Coaching Sport emphasis (see attached documents). In short, the changes will mean that BIS students will take a new course, PEP 3400 - Sport Psychology for Coaches, in place of PEP 4800 Individual Project. Also, PEP 3550 is being re-named and increased from 2 credits to 3. These changes will increase the BIS emphasis from 19 credits to 20 credits. I will arrange to meet with you upon your return to discuss further.

Best wishes!

Brian
