methods taught in class and in the lab. Please note that each lab period will show how to perform certain tasks that will be required during the final exam. If you miss a lab, your lab final exam grade will probably suffer from it.

Your final grade for the exam will be based on the same scale as the one for class, as shown in the following table:

Since grades for the lab final exam are based solely on performance, a checklist will be used to mark off the tasks you performed. These required tasks will be discussed in further detail as the semester progresses.

50% of your lab grade will be based on attendance and participation, and the other 50% will be based on the lab final exam. It is expected that you not only attend lab, but that you participate in the learning process.
