Course description (exactly as it will appear in the catalog, including prerequisites):

Traditional accounting courses look at financial processes and learning from the perspective of the corporation or to train students to work at larger companies. Entrepreneurship and entrepreneurial ventures have different financial and accounting needs based on their size, cash flow, planning and situational urgency. Students will learn about bank loans, business credit cards, investors, venture capital and other forms of traditional and non-traditional financing. Learning activities will include developing and evaluating the financial portion of a business model, valuation, deal structuring, and developing debt-structuring models. The course will explore the application of corporate finance tools to new venture and private equity transactions including forecast simulations and the application of real options. The course will view finance from the entrepreneur, lender and investor's perspectives. Pre-requisites: ENTR1001, BSAD 2899 or ECON 2899.

Justification for the new course or for changes to an existing course. (Note: Justification should emphasize academic rationale for the change or new course. This is particularly important for courses requesting upper-division status.)

This course constitutes an essential part of the knowledge base and practice required for the new Entrepreneurship Minor.

INFORMATION PAGE
for substantive proposals only

1. Did this course receive unanimous approval within the Department? Yes No

If not, what are the major concerns raised by the opponents?

2. If this is a new course proposal, could you achieve the desired results by revising an existing course within your department or by requiring an existing course in another department? Explain.

There are no similar courses currently available. Current finance courses prepare students for the medium to large sized business environment, whereas, this course focuses specifically on the unique needs of the start up business and the entrepreneur.

3. If this is a new course proposal, how will the proposed course differ from similar offerings by other departments? Comment on any subject overlap between this course and topics generally taught by other departments, even if no similar courses are currently offered by the other departments. Explain any effects that this proposal will have on program requirements or enrollments in other department. Please forward letters (email communication is sufficient) from all departments that you have identified above stating their support or opposition to the proposed course.

No other departments offer a course or courses similar to Entrepreneurial Finance.

4. Is this course required for certification/accreditation of a program? Yes No

If so, a statement to that effect should appear in the justification and supporting documents should accompany this form.

5. For course proposals, attach a copy of the course syllabus to the form your are submitting to the Faculty Senate office. The syllabus should be sufficiently detailed so that committees can determine that the course is at the appropriate level and matches the description. There should be an indication of the amount and type of outside activity required in the course (projects, research papers, homework, etc.).

Please mail a signed approval page to the Faculty Senate Office, MA 210J, MC 1033.
