

First, identify the reaction type, and then complete the reaction by filling in the missing structures or reagents.

First, identify the reaction type, and then complete the reaction by filling in the missing structures or reagents.

